Bratislava,

Past event

Information / Description:

Supported by DG Research of the European Commission (see www.scp-responder.eu) and under the auspices of the Slovak Ministry of the Environment, this brokerage event will draw together a select group of researchers, policy-makers, activists and business representatives from the EU and neighbouring countries.

Questions we plan to explore include:

- What are the trends in urban mobility, and what could we learn from adverse and promising examples?
- What are the policies and practices to strengthen sustainable urban mobility and to promote sustainable mobility lifestyles?
- What visions for low-carbon, secure and competitive mobility systems in cities exist?
- How could sustainable mobility approaches reduce spatial segregation, urban sprawl and promote social inclusion?
- How do we move towards effective mobility policy making in the real world?

This event will be a moderated, open discussion among 35-40 experts, stimulated by several keynote speakers. Your participation would add vital perspective to this timely debate.

Would you be interested in joining us to share your views and experiences on the topic?

Please confirm your participation by an email with attached registration form to mobility-at-SCP-RESPONDER.eu or register online. Registration is open until February 10, 2013.
