Information / Description:

The CityLab project invites you to participate in its upcoming symposium. The event will provide attendees with the opportunity to meet practitioners, local authority freight planners, and technology providers interested in developing solutions to urban logistics challenges.

You will learn about various innovative urban logistics solutions currently being trialled, including crowd-shipping; automated parcel lockers; off-hour delivery systems; cargo bikes; and reverse logistics applications.

Attendance is free, but registration is required as the number of attendees is limited.
