Attracting attention around the globe, EU Green Week is the biggest annual event on the European environment policy calendar. It's a forum for stakeholder debate at the European, national and local levels, generating input that feeds back into policymaking and implementation. And it is a truly European event - in addition to a high-level conference in Brussels, numerous events are organised by partner organisations across the whole of Europe.

EU Green Week 2020 will focus on nature and biodiversity and will explore possible pathways for change, and examine how a range of EU policies like the European Green Deal can help protect, restore and sustainably manage nature, leaving it room to recover and thrive.

All information relating to EU Green Week 2020, including the applications to organise an EU Green Week partner event, and registration for the Brussels conference will appear on the Green Week website.
