The European Commission-funded METAMORPHOSIS project is all about transforming neighbourhoods - with a focus on children.

The METAMORPHOSIS cities, Zürich, Munich, Graz, Meran, Alba Julia, Southampton and Tilburg tested child-friendly approaches which help communities to reclaim their streets from motor vehicles.

Step by step, ‘living streets’ make play on the street possible again, parklets (converted parking lots) turn vehicle compounds into friendly communication spaces, and school environments can be freed from car traffic and returned to children. These are just some examples, and this webinar will tell you about the highlights of the project for giving back the street space to people, and above all to children!

© Lendwirbel