Information / Description:

These courses are specifically designed to familiarise delegates with the concepts and techniques of railway management, economics and planning, and their application in addressing a wide variety of current issues facing the industry.

Topics covered will include:

Railway Management: management and business planning, ownership and structure, safety, rail freight.

The courses are suitable for those:

- Already employed in planning functions in the railway industry, local authorities and consultancies wishing to deepen their understanding
- Railway staff from other disciplines wanting to undertake scheme appraisals, or to widen their knowledge of the railway as a system
- Young professionals wishing to understand the key concepts of railway planning in order to further their career

The courses are led by Dr Nigel Harris of The Railway Consultancy.
