Information / Description:

On 18, 19 and 20 October 2017, the Swiss Mobility Academy will be hosting it's 5th World Collaborative Mobility Congress - "wocomoco" - in Berlin, Germany. Key players from all over the globe gather here to exchange their views and present their latest innovations in the thriving markets of car-, ride- and bike-sharing.

The Mobility Academy of the Touring Club Switzerland is monitoring the world of collaborative mobility for nearly half a decade now and, since 2013, stages the annual World Collaborative Mobility Congress in Europe.

"wocomoco2017 is coming to Berlin, thus touching ground in one of the most exciting cities in Europe when it comes to innovating the sharing of cars, rides, bikes as well as other means of transportation," says Dr Jörg Beckmann, CEO of the Mobility Academy. "We're extremely delighted to come to Germany and work together with our German partners - the ADAC, the Agora Verkehrswende and the Senate of Berlin - to make wocomoco2017 a big success."

The congress programme and all other information about the event can soon be found on our website www.wocomoco.org.
